

As a member of a Barton County Representative Farm Panel, University of Missouri Extension Committee and Southwest Center Advisory Board, it has been evident to me that well studied scenarios of past decision making is key in making decisions that affect the Future. No one is better at doing that than FAPRI.

As a Congressional Staffer I have observed that findings, by FAPRI, are invaluable in advising policy makers as they debate how their actions might affect the every day life of every day people. FAPRI's diverse staff and wiliness to communicate, on a short notice, is and will always be appreciated.

Wishing all the best for the future
