

2022 Abner W. Womack Missouri Agriculture Outlook Conference

8:30 am CDT on Wednesday, April 20, 2022

8:30-8:35	Welcome and Logistics	Ben Brown – Senior Research Associate
8:35-8:40	Welcome from the Division of Applied Social Sciences	Joe Parcell – Director, Division of Applied Social Sciences, University of Missouri
8:40-9:05	2022-2032 FAPRI Baseline Outlooks – Livestock	Scott Brown – Director of Strategic Partnerships, Associate Extension Professor, University of Missouri
9:05-9:30	2022-2032 FAPRI Baseline Outlooks – Crops	Patrick Westhoff – FAPRI Director and Howard Cowden Professor, University of Missouri
9:30-9:55	What Changes the Baseline for Renewable Fuels?	Jarrett Whistance – Program Leader, Biofuel Market and Policy Analysis
9:55-10:20	Renewable Diesel – Where Can All the Soybean Meal Go?	Bob Maltzbarger – Senior Research Economist
10:20-10:40	Break	Coffee and Refreshments in the Atrium
10:40-11:00	Introducing the Rural and Farm Finance Policy Analysis Center	Sarah Low – Associate Professor, Fred V. Heinkel Chair in Agriculture, and RAFF Director
11:00-11:25	Missouri Farm Income Outlook	John Kruse – Associate Research Professor, FAPRI, University of Missouri
11:25-11:55	Representative Farm Update	Joe Outlaw – Regents Fellow, Professor, and Co-Director of the Agricultural and Food Policy Center (AFPC) at Texas A&M University
12:00- 1:00	Lunch	BBQ Served in the Atrium
1:00-1:30	2022 and Beyond – Macroeconomic Outlook	Jason Brown – Vice President and Economist, Kansas City Federal Reserve Bank
1:30-2:00	Global Supply Chain Disruptions for Agricultural Input Markets	Chris DeMoss – Director of Plant Foods, MFA Inc.
2:00-2:30	How Conflict in the Black Sea Region Impacts U.S. Producers and Agribusinesses	James Sun – Global Market Analysis & Trade Lead, Bayer Crop Science

